

Action Taken Report on Faculty Feedback

The feedback received from the faculty members regarding the curriculum reveals a strong alignment between the proposed curriculum and the desired learning outcomes. The faculty members express satisfaction with how the curriculum actively engages students in their learning process. They appreciate the incorporation of interactive and experiential learning opportunities such as projects, group work, discussions, and hands-on activities, as these methods foster student participation and application of knowledge. Additionally, the curriculum's inclusion of a diverse range of assessment methods receives positive recognition from the faculty members. They find the variety of assessment measures, including exams, projects, presentations, and portfolios, to be advantageous in evaluating student progress comprehensively. The faculty members also acknowledge the curriculum's recommendation of textbooks and reference materials, which they perceive as valuable resources to support student learning and supplement course materials. Overall, the feedback from the faculty members on the curriculum is overwhelmingly positive, indicating that it effectively aligns with the desired learning outcomes, engages students through interactive approaches, provides diverse assessment methods, and offers relevant resources for enhanced learning. This positive response further affirms the curriculum's success in meeting the requirements of the new regulation set by the university.
